The focus of this conference is „borders“, in particular those border constructs we carry in around in our heads which inform and influence how we think and act in the world around us. We explore a wide range of issues linked to borders, memories, social diversity and we open up an opportunity for dialogue about the place of these contemporary issues within Initial Teacher Education.

We ask: „What contribution can European Teacher Education make to encourage critical reflection on these everyday realities?“

The keynote presentations, papers and workshops explore a wide range of issues linked to Border Education and European Civic Education including: conceptualising and understanding borders, the links between borders and memories, the life stories of border-crossers (including refugees and migrants) and intercultural communication across language, literature and film.
